

KEDRICK ARMSTRONG: NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR FOR THE OAKLAND SYMPHONY

Posted on April 20, 2024 by OAKLAND POST

The Oakland Symphony Announced Kedrick Armstrong as its Next Music Director. In addition to conducting the orchestra's public concerts, Armstrong will also actively participate in the Oakland Symphony's many education and community engagement programs, designed to inspire a love of music in people of all ages. The post Kedrick Armstrong: New Music Director for the Oakland Symphony first appeared on Post News Group.

Categories: #NNPA BlackPress, Black News, Community, Featured, Featured, National, NNPA, NNPA Newswire

Tags: "Here I Stand: Paul Robeson, " oratorio, African American music directors, Arts and Culture, Bay Area, black conductor, Calvin Simmons, classical, Community, community engagement programs, Dan Harder, diverse communities, Dr. Mieko Hatano, Education, featured, Georgetown South Carolina, Gospel, hip hop, jazz, Kedrick Armstrong, Knox-Galesburg Symphony, libretto, Lifestyle, Local, Michael Morgan, Music, musician, Oakland, Oakland Post, orchestra, Post News Group, Post Staff, public concerts, The Chicago Tribune, The Oakland Symphony

There are no comments yet.